However, the soul do not constitute unknown energy type that has mentality, but it is still should be studied.

(Critical Care Medicine Institute, Tbilisi, Georgia)

Here are given information about human soul. soul is a consciousness provided with energy. The data about separating a soul from body, similarly to the film chronics, when he is directed to the long, endless tunnel and in the end of tunnel there is a white and bright light, he hears pleasant and delightful sounds and when enter in the "light valley", hearing of pleasant sounds, speak and see dead persons. what a person see during death and revivify is a certain recording which brain does during these processes and not the fact of separating soul from body and "realization" of them occurs after revivify and they are not realistic and need more analysis and research.

here is a data about predicting the future. that in most cases humans can predict the future: healthy representatives Besides genes of "general usage" there are the ones for only "genes for a person" and the genes "of general usage" which were necessary for his ancestors are out of date and suppressed. So according to the "scenario" of certain persons the difference in between the genes: which ones must "rest" and which of them must "work" and in what time and environment. of medical personal and chronic patients when last mentioned were not in coma but had critical condition. By the way of hypothesis here is said that there is a possibility of travelling in the future of in the past.

in this part we provide with information about the service of The Critical Care Medicine From the Beginning to nowadays. Here are indicated achievements and problematic issues, future prognosis and about a possibility that Georgia can become an example for developing countries and show how to own this expansive service in terms of limited resources. Moreover the experience of our country may be taken into consideration by developed states, because Georgia has already reached significant aims.

Key Words: Death, Life, Soul.

Georgia writer Nodar dumbadze, when he was 85 years old, noted that human soul is much more heavier than body and only one person can not carry it, so each of us must do it. The first person who was gifted with soul was Adam and from that time human always have connection with soul. In this wide period of time, people made possible to receive pictures of Mars's landscape, land on the moon, measure the speed of light ray, decoded human genome, and created "big bang" moderation by way of "big androgynous collider". Unfortunately despite these huge achievements, human knowledge about soul is very little. Moreover, data about soul is represented as viewpoint of different religions and scientific data is outside the subject. First of all we must answer questions about the essence of soul and next questions will be about signs and peculiarities of soul; it is obvious that in this case, existence of soul must be set as priory.

What is soul? – by the simplest definition, soul is what gives life to living. The main difference between life and death is function. The function exists during living, not during death. Soul is the same for life and death. So, soul is what conditions the function or/and function together with conditioning factor. and energy is necessary to condition and implement this function. Dead body does not have energy, it even does not need it. Consequently, soul can be the energy in living organism, which is necessary for organism to function. People receive energy from food that we eat, from drinks and air, that we breathe. In these products there must be energy called "Prana" as it is mentioned in methods of yoga followers. But as classical Scientists say, that reproducing of energy in human organism is the result of components which is the outcome of food recycle in digestive tract; then these events are ongoing in cells mitochondria which are also called “energy stations” from this viewpoint.

An organism is able to accumulate energy in fatty and other tissues and use it at the time of deficiency. It is interesting that scientists studied issues about supporting organism with energy but for them it is unknown yet- is soul the energy produced in mitochondria or it's different kind of energy. It is not excluded that there are some other mechanism of creating soul-type energy and electric-magnetic valley's pictures noticed around body. Some researches think that these are

#	Name of feelings
1	dark, long, tunnel, white, bright shining in the end
2	Uncertain sounds
3	pleasure

energetic expressions of soul. Although these picture of soul do not contradicts to the opinion about “mitochondrial energy”. It is important that by the confession of various religions, soul can move, think, speak, and more- it sees, speaks, suffers, is happy and so on. But these are not all characteristic signs of an organism. There are functions which are mainly carried out thanks to brain; in these case there is not visible such functions which are conditioned by other “departments” of organism. Nowadays it is reckoned that soul is an energy and functions which are put in motion by means of brain. More precisely this is function of brain remained without soulless energy. These characteristics functions for soul and the whole of it is typical for the part of brain that determined consciousness. So is we will be more concrete, soul is a consciousness provided with energy without body. But consciousness without energy is impossible to be. This is a full process so a soul can be functioned by the “followed” energy from organism until this energy is exhausted. But it is possible that we have a deal with another unknown type of energy. In any case, soul is a consciousness, mentality that can be one of the fragments of “world brain”. How can be “soul’s leaving”? the data according to this issue is basically viewpoints of different religions which have a many centuries’ history. Works of science which are much more earlier and are appeared in the last century’s 80ies are generally based on “appearing” died persons. We means patients after clinical death who told about soul’s travelling and separating soul from body. But we should outline than only 5% of 117 patients after reanimation remembered some signs about their soul’s travelling. In additions, they were strange and illogic “sketches” and only after insisting on patients, they manage to draw these “sketches”. It should be taken into consideration that people do not want to remember the process of death. Majority of them tried to “cut off” this process that they underwent and they “write” it to another persons. There was frequent unpleasant feeling such fear, despair, helplessness and other signs. The author of this work who is the witness of lots of death because of his profession is not able to remember at least one fact that was sign of leaving soul from body apart from heart stop and respiratory stop. The “scenario” complied by other people looks like this kind: body is surrounded with a very pleasant, warm feeling, the passed way of his life is before his eyes similarly to the film chronics, he is directed to the long, endless tunnel and in the end of tunnel there is a white and bright light, he hears pleasant and delightful sounds and when enter in the “light valley” he begins to watch his died body from upside. He realizes that he is dead and a new life is ahead. This feeling is strengthened by impossibility of contact with live persons which are seen by dead person but they are not able to see a soul that is transferred into another world. But such kind of isolation may be the result of limited possibilities of humans: hearing-aid of humans perceives from 16 to 20000 DB sonic waves and visionary-aid- light waves of 300-950NM length. A soul can be outside of these perceptions. It is significant that this “scenario” of leaving soul from organism can be recordings of brain which were carried out during death process and reanimation; sometimes they are wrong. Moreover, such pleasant and calm feeling which is supplied fro body is the outcome of endorphin surplus which happens before death according to our researches. As for dark and limitless tunnel with bright light in the end can be explained by shortage of sight valley and remaining the vision of tube-type. On the other side the perception of bright light and widen eyesight is extinct on the earlier stage of death processes. Perception of tube-type light is determined by 17th zone of occipital angle that is provided with blood by brain’s posterior and interior arteries. It’s providing with blood is much more better than another analyzers and it’s function remains longer than others. Because of all mentioned above, person sees a white light of tube- type character and in case of “recovery” the recording, it is perceived as white light in the end of tunnel. By means of such consideration there can be explained hearing of pleasant sounds which “sweeten” a soul. The analyzer of hearing has an old building and function of it stops work after other analyzers: when analyzer’s crusts’ parts are switched off, the parts existing in brain stem are working any way, and additionally when hearing analyzer in brain stem’s certain fibbers are dead, impulses can be transferred by means of another non-injured fibbers. Though because of stoppage of blood circulation the information can’t be differentiated and only some sounds occur that seems to be peasant for hear for the brain that is full of B-endorphins. This should be noted that that this peculiarity of hearing-aid can be a basis of Hittites which tried to announce each death with a loud ring in order to activate hearing analyzers and revivify a dying person. It is important that this “discovery” of Hittites is remained and even nowadays their posterity meets death with ring sound. As for life “film chronic” is can be explained by long memory’s hypo camp that stop functioning in the end too. Also blood circulation in it is organized well. As for watching soul the own body from upside is depend on an asynchronous work of brain’s certain crusts and is seen when we have a deal with psychosis, hyperthermia, poisoning and other cases when there is alienation with own body. Consequently what a person see during death and revivify is a certain recording which brain does during these processes and not the fact of separating soul from body and “realization” of them occurs after revivify. If we consider that “recording” and “printing” these processes happen in a very unpleasant and uncomfortable conditions, there is a great chance that brain perceives it wrongly. It is important that in these “recordings” the majority of “pictures” are made by means of those brain area which are provided with blood well and stop working lately. But if we suppose that soul is a consciousness and these “pictures” are made by this consciousness, then we can consider these “recordings” as a notification of the “future life”.

How does a soul live in the “future life”?- the data about this issue is mainly based on contemplates of religious figures. In this case providing with information by revived persons is impossible because of limited time of clinical death and reanimation processes. Some of them indicate that after separating soul from body, they are meet with angels and after passing several ecclesiastic dept suitably. And the soul of majority of human may remain nearer in the Earth and “visits” places where he passed his days in this life. After review familiar places on the third and then ninth day soul is presented on the law-court. searching he is presented in heaven. It seems that this kind of honor is for persons who paid an And in order to pass a sentence on a soul comes to the law-court on the 40th day. Before this, a soul must travel in heaven and hell. It should be noted that some religions do not exclude a possibility that a soul can come back by means of “reincarnation”. This is characteristic generally for Buddhist religion which claims that a soul can come back on the Earth for several times and even live in animal’s body. It is noteworthy that there are some considerations about soul eternity, it is accepted that eternal soul is only the “cosmic” one which has unlimited possibility by this viewpoint. Less possibilities are prescribed to souls “mental” and “astral” forms. There is noted that creating of these forms depends on owners attempts revealing during lifetime and “cosmic” form is a fate of units.

Is it necessary to continue the following research and what should we expect from it?- in the science that existed before nowadays, the most tabooed issue was soul. But civilization enter the era in which soul acknowledgment is inevitable for the future development. A soul is an energy and such energy that made possible to revivify Lazare by Christ and even Moses split a huge space of water. We have presented the hypothesis about participating soul’s energy in providing ongoing events with energy in the world. From this point of view we took into account creating of “dark energy” that guides processes of universe widening and this world is widening at the speed of 40000 km/sec. the greatness of soul can be explained by the growth of request for undue and sudden death that is mostly realized during catastrophes and wars. The amount of dead persons at the time of such conditions are 6-10 times more. Moreover, the majority of death in this universe in undue and sudden and only few persons “die in time”. It is not foreclosed that in behalf of studying this energy the president of USA Dwight D. Eisenhower disappeared, on October 20, 1954 and Pascal’s “poor man” have already made the choice in benefit of wind and water energy. Studying about soul is important to get to know about parallel universes and other unknown problems including time travelling and predict the future. Unfortunately it seems that we need new approaches and techniques in order to recognize soul because possibilities of classical science is too weak. The main accent should be on the methods of research of which basis is soul-consciousness. So, human soul should not be such weak as a Georgian writer represents it but it is a strong soul. The strong soul is a fate of units nowadays. The absolute majority of humans nowadays are so feeble that the only receipt seems to be “bridging” and “entering into association”.

Conclusion: there is acclaimed the necessity and inevitability of intensive studying about human soul by science.
